CITY COUNCIL.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the City Council was held last night.

The Finance Committee reported adversely on the petition for releasing the tug boats plying in this harbor from taxation. The ground of the petition was that tug boats in Washington and Georgetown were not taxed, and it was a discrimination against the commerce of this city. The answer of the committee is that such boats are not specially exempt in the District of Columbia, but only so because no personal property is taxed in that District.

The following report of the special committee appointed to examine the annual report of the Fire Wardens was presented by Col. French:

To the Common Council: The special committee appointed to examine the annual report of the Fire Wardens of Alexandra, lately submitted by them, as to the expenses and outlay made by them in connection with the said Fire Department, respectfully with the said Fire Department, respectfully re-port that after a careful examination of all the ir insactions of the Fire Wardens, in connection with the management of their outlay and expenditures, as shown in their books, and in personal explanations made by the Wardens themselves, as to various items of expenditure to which their attention was called, your committee feel satisfled that the working expenses of the Fire Department have been judiciously and economically managed, and that the Wardens for their services are entitled to the thanks of the community.

Jas. S. French, Chairman.

W. F. Henderson.

Dr. Johnson said this report was a perversion of facts. There was not an iota of evidence presented before the committee to show how the money was spent. He was disappointed and chagrined at the conduct of this investigation and its result. He had been contemptuously treated and interrupted by a partizan chairman, who had assumed that position without invitation. The whole thing was gotten up as a white-washing scheme. He had sat there and asked questions and was stopped by the uncouthness of one of the Fire Wardens, and interrupted by the chairman himself, who had made a premeditated report. He read at some length a speech on the subject.

Col. French said he had positively no feeling on the subject, and the imputations of the member fall harmless at his feet. The committee having been constituted for a special purpose-to examine the annual report of the Fire Wardens-it would have been in bad taste, to say nothing of its being foreign to the powers of the committee, to go into an examination of the history of the Fire Department. The examination as conducted by the gentleman (Dr. J.) was like his speech, it had nothing to do with the subject. He had called him to order because the questions he was asking were entirely irrelevant to the subject. The books of the secretary of the Fire Wardens were presented and every item was examined. Was not that sufficient? He (Dr. J.) said in the presence of the committee of the Fire Wardens that he did not charge these gentlemen with wrongfully spending one dollar, but thought they had honestly acted in all things. What now could be done? If he is dissatisfied with the Fire Department as it exists, let him move to amend the law. It appears that this subject cannot be mentioned but that the gentleman seems to think a personal attack is meant on him.

Dr. Johnson said he was appointed on the committee, and was the official peer of the gentleman in all things. Where did he get the authority to interrupt him and to assume the position of chairman?

Col. French said that the person introducing a bill was by courtesy the chairman.

Dr. Johnson-By courtesy, only. He (Dr. J.) was ruled out. Where did he get his power to do this? A garbled and misrepresented report of the affair had been published. No one but he himself looked at the books. This thing was a "ring;" a bargain that no money should be spent out of it that could be spent in it. It had gone on long enough. A halt must be called. He did not believe the gen tleman (Col. F.) had ever read the law bearing on the subject. He (Dr. J.) had never wronged a human being in his life, and had never forfeited his word, and he said again, that this report was a whitewashing affair.

The report was then unanimously adopted.

The Revenue bill was read. Dr. Johnson said that this was an important matter and he was in favor of letting it go over to the incoming Council. He understood that a member of that body had prepared a plan by which he proposed to save many thousand dollars to the city. We are not the masters of the people, but their servants, and he thought it ought to lie on the table and let the people be consulted.

Col. French said the Committee had spent many laborious hours and days over this bill and had called in the advice of some of the best citizens of the city on the subject. He took it for granted, in reply to some criticism on the bill, that everybody knew what a green grocer was and what the Sabbath was. It was very important that this bill pass at once, that provision should be made for the payment of the interest on the city debt.

Dr. Johnson said he liked to consult the people, and if a tax was judicious or otherwise they would soon decide.

Mr. Seaton thought the bill better lie over and be printed. Dr. Johnson said that the gentleman (Col.

French) was trying to sacrifice all other business for the good of one class-that of the bond-

Col. French replied that he had been placed here, elected, with certain powers—it was right that he should use them. Was a public meet-ing of the town to be called every time a bill is before the Council, and are we to say, "Gentlemen, here is a subject we cannot legislate on without consulting you." Is that any way to

The reading of the Revenue bill was commenced by sections. Dr. Johnson moved to amend the section fixing the rate of taxation at two per cent., by adding also 12 per cent. on one hundred dollars on real estate for the improvement of the streets, &c.

Col. French opposed this on the ground that it was illegal to bring in this tax in this way. He did not say this because he was opposed to improvement, but thought a separate bill should be provided.

Dr. Johnson advocated his resolution. Three fourths of the people were in favor of this improvement of the city, and if the sentiment how growing was not taken in hand and guided by the Council, it would grow into formidable proportions and sweep everything before it. He then moved to take up the bill introduced by him for the improvement of the city as a substitute for the Revenue bill.

Col. French. - "Then Mr. Chairman I move that we adjourn." Dr. Johnson.—"I second the motion, and so at a little before ten the Board adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL.

There was a tolerable attendance both within and without the bar at the meeting of the Common Council, last night. The bill to encourage manufactures being under consideration, Mr. Shinn said that acts had often been introduced into the Boards looking to the encouragement of manufactures, but none had passed. He was able to state that the plans for the establishment of a rolling mill here had been large in amount and the scheme an experiment, he thought that some encouragement should be offered at once. There was a plan also for a ship yard, and of another rolling mill of great size. He thought this bill as unobjectionable as any one that could be made. He thought that the passage of the bill would attract manufacture and attract manufacture and and the scheme an experiment, Java, at 100 and 170 King street.
